Existence of international standards like ISO 14001 bring world-wide focus on environment, encouraging a cleaner, safer and healthier world for all of us.

What is ISO 14001?

ISO 14001 is an International Standard that specifies requirements for an Environmental Management System (EMS). It provides a framework for environmental management best practices to aid organizations to prevent pollution and develop their business in a sustainable manner. ISO 14001 helps organizations review their supply chain to mitigate against environmental risk & ensure sustainability. It helps organizations identify, manage, monitor and control their environmental issues in a 'holistic' manner.

Who is ISO 14001 for?

ISO 14001 is applicable to organizations of all types and sizes, be they private, not-for-profit or governmental. Every organization (industrial, manufacturing, service/trade related) has an impact on the environment & can therefore benefit from ISO 14001 certification.

Benefits to your Business

- Minimizes environmental footprint and diminishes risk of pollution incidents
- Identifies cost savings with greater emphasis on resource, waste & energy management
- Improves regulatory performance & lowers risk of fines for non-compliance with environmental legislation
- Delivers a proof of social responsibility, improving corporate image and credibility
- Provides a financial advantage by improving efficiencies leading to increased profits
- Provides a competitive advantage as EMS is now a core requirement in many tenders
